Dear Uniondale Community and Staff:

I hope this letter finds each of you and your family safe. Earlier today, Governor Cuomo announced that schools across New York State will continue to be closed for the remainder of the academic year. While this is not the school year we had anticipated, we will continue to get through this together as a united community.

The district will continue with our meal distribution program as well as providing childcare service for essential workers. Our school buildings may be closed physically, but the learning process will continue as it has been over the past 7 weeks. The Board of Education and Central Administration sincerely thank all staff and families for making the necessary accommodations to provide continuity of instruction and learning during these uncertain times. We will continue to keep our community updated with new information as we are expecting further pertinent information from the Governor's office.

Once again I thank you for your continued patience during such unusual circumstances.

Stay safe and be well,

Dr. William K. Lloyd
