PARENT WORKSHOP

"Assistive Technology: Supporting Success at Home"

Presenter: Sarah Wagner, Educational Consultant
Westmoreland Intermediate Unit

Would you like to know how you can support your son or daughter at home with tools that could make the homework process easier? Assistive technology may be part of the answer. This hands-on session will define Assistive Technology (AT) and introduce the five types. The session will then focus on one type of AT, Academic and Learning Aids. We will explore built-in accessibility features on devices that you may have at home, including laptops, Chromebooks, and iPads. Free and inexpensive tools (apps and extensions) will also be shared and demonstrated. Please bring technology with you for a hands-on experience to try the built-in features.
