- making sure their child is provided with time and guidance to complete all homework;
- volunteering for their child's classroom when possible;
- participating, as appropriate, in decisions related to the education of their child; and
- encouraging the positive use of extracurricular time.

In order to establish and maintain ongoing, good communication between teachers and parents, the following strategies will be used:

1. annual parent-teacher conferences in elementary schools to discuss individual student achievement as it relates to provisions of the compact;
2. frequent progress reports to families on student academic progress;
3. reasonable access to staff and opportunities to volunteer, observe, and participate in classroom activities; and
4. regular home-school communications from classroom teacher regarding projects, activities, and test schedules.
