“We understand that many parents are employed by businesses and organizations providing essential services, and therefore still need to work and still need child care. The Child Care Council has assembled this list of child care programs and providers who are, as of the date of this list, open to providing care for additional children. Please note: the Council is providing these as referral options only, and not recommendations. The Council does not recommend any particular program/provider nor can we guarantee the capabilities or the quality of care for any program or provider. Therefore, inclusion on this list should not be seen as an endorsement or a recommendation by the Council. We strongly urge you to check the compliance history of any provider or program you will consider using at
