

Natures Beauty

Grade 7

Fiction _____

Poetry X

Nonfiction _____

Natures Beauty

Table of Contents

Frosty Peaks

Dusk

Shadow

Dawn

Summer Bloom

Frosty Peaks

The sun shines bright on the mountains high,

The frosty peaks shine in the sky.

As hikers trek, oh so tall.

The breeze must catch them so they don't fall.

As they continue, higher they go.

The peaks are dashed with bits of snow.

As they reach the top the sun shines bright,

As the wind blows hard they feel as if they have taken flight.

Dusk

As the sun goes down, it sets in the west.

It puts the whole world down to rest.

The moon rises, oh so bright.

It begins on its wonderful flight.

Shadow

It follows you throughout the day,
And goes on endlessly in the night.
If you try to catch it, you'll never be pleased.
So don't try to catch it please!

Dawn

The sun comes over the grassy hills,

The sea waves high.

The fresh morning dew, sure won't pass you by.

If you ever get the chance, take time to look up in the sky!

Summer Bloom

In the summer, there is always a bloom.

It shall be coming very soon.

If you're lucky, you will see.

But if not then let it be.

