

Comparison of Remote and Blended Learning Experiences: School Year 2020-21

Fully Remote Learning Experience  Fully remote instruction at home	Blended Learning Experience  Combination of learning in-person at school buildings, and remote instruction at home
Students participate in a regular schedule of age-appropriate, standards-based remote learning from home every day. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Students will have live interaction with teachers every day.</li> <li>• Every class will include live instruction. The amount will vary by grade, depending on what is developmentally appropriate.</li> <li>• Students will use a DOE-approved online platform (such as iLearnNYC or Google Classroom), available in multiple languages, for lessons and submission of work.</li> <li>• Students will experience whole class, small group and/or individualized instruction in an online environment, as well as collaboration with classmates and teachers.</li> <li>• We will make every effort to ensure students consistently have the same instructors throughout the year.</li> <li>• There will be an emphasis on social-emotional learning across school communities to ensure the mental health and wellness of students and staff.</li> <li>• Students will be able to access video-recorded lessons, assignments, and tasks.</li> <li>• Teachers will regularly engage students and families to check student work, provide timely feedback, and adjust instruction as necessary, via remote learning platforms, calls, emails, video chats, etc.</li> <li>• Students and families will have access to one-on-one support to help with instructional activities.</li> </ul>	Students go to school buildings for age-appropriate, standards-based, in-person instruction on some days; and continue their learning from home remotely on the other days of the week. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• On in-person days, students will attend classes in their school building.</li> <li>• On in-person days, students will have the opportunity for whole class, small group, and individual work and collaboration with classmates and teachers.</li> <li>• Students will use a DOE-approved online platform (such as iLearnNYC or Google Classroom), available in multiple languages, for lessons and submission of work.</li> <li>• We will make every effort to ensure students will be taught by a consistent set of teachers in-person and remotely, who work together throughout the year to maintain continuity and maximize learning.</li> <li>• There will be an emphasis on social-emotional learning across school communities to ensure the mental health and wellness of students and staff.</li> <li>• Students will be able to access video-recorded lessons, assignments, and tasks.</li> <li>• Teachers will regularly engage students and families to check student work, provide timely feedback, and adjust instruction as necessary, in-person and via remote learning platforms, calls, emails, video chats, etc.</li> <li>• Students and families will have access to one-on-one support to help with instructional activities.</li> </ul>