

COLLECTING USED / BROKEN CRAYONS!

Clelian Heights Center ATF (Adult Training Facility) has partnered with the California based company The Crayon Initiative which collects used and unwanted crayons, melts them down and remanufactures them, thus reducing environmental waste. (More than 60 million crayons are discarded annually throughout the U.S.) These new crayons are then distributed to art programs at hospitals for children across the country.

Clelian Heights is proud to join this recycling effort. Collecting the crayons, peeling the paper off and sorting the colors will not only provide our adults with meaningful work, but will make a lasting difference.

Please send your used and broken crayons to the school office
