Dear Parents and Students:

Back by popular demand is the Summer Reading Treasure Map Program. To participate, each student will be required to read their way to the treasure by filling in each coin on the map with the name of the book read and their parent's initials. For our younger students, an adult may read to the student and for our more experienced readers, each chapter of their book will represent one coin on the attached treasure map. Students successfully completing their reading treasure map will be rewarded in September. Penn-Trafford High School senior athletes will visit Level Green Elementary to assist with the fun activities planned for the participants. Please note that the reading and map for this program must be completed and returned to the school by Friday, September 6 in order for your child to be eligible. This is a very popular, fun program for the students of Level Green and we hope you continue to support reading throughout the summer. Don't wait until school begins to try to read all the books, start now, so you don't miss out on all the fun!

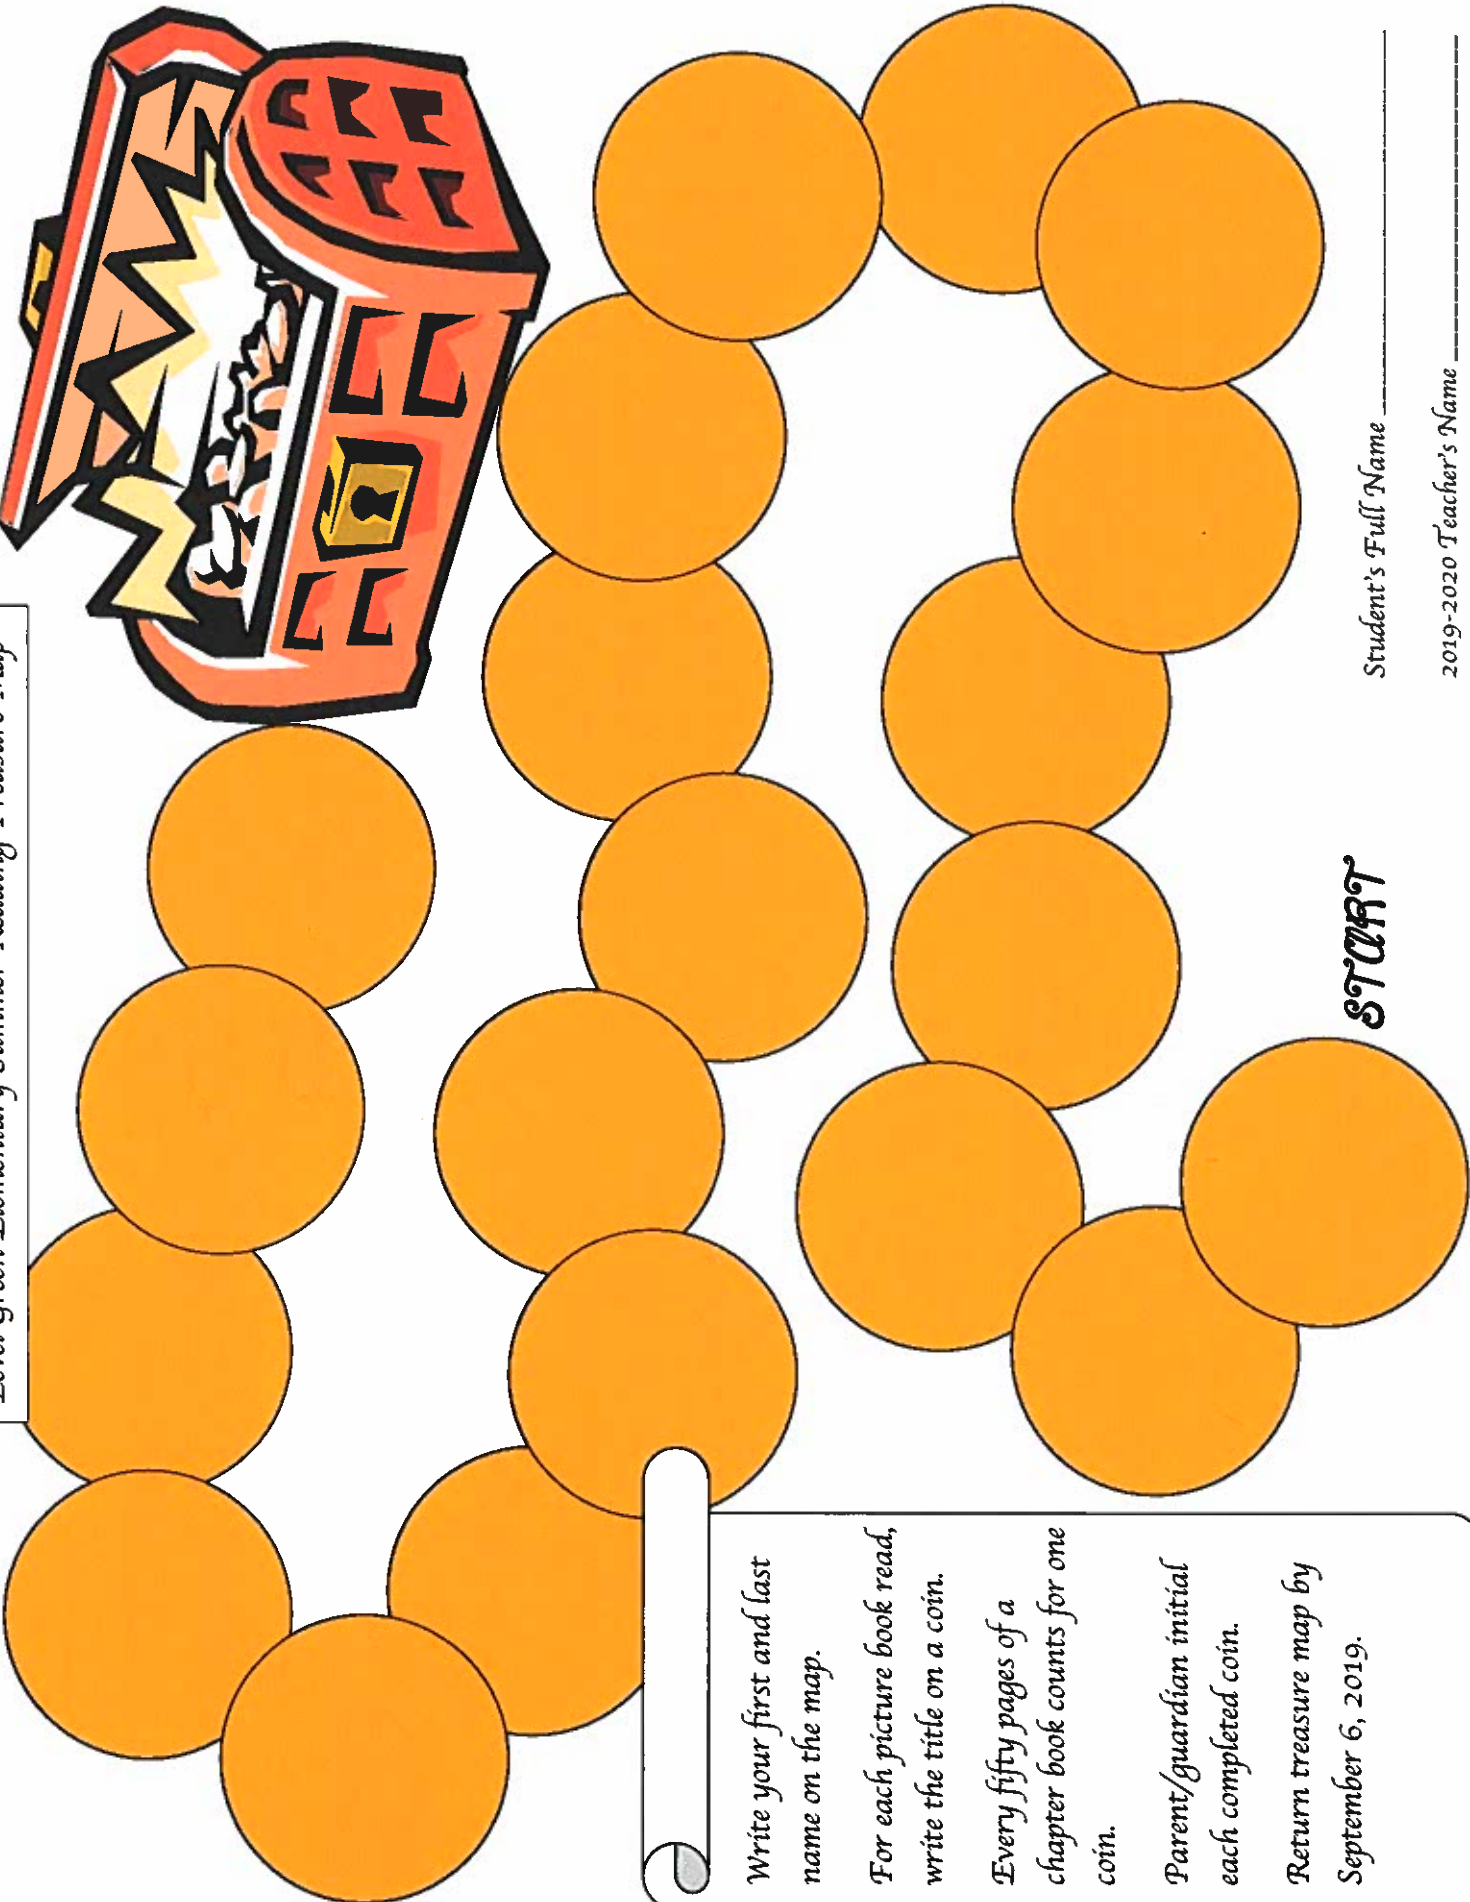

Please do not hesitate call the school at 412-372-6603 if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Daniel W. DiNapoli

Mr. Dan DiNapoli
Principal

Write your first and last name on the map.

For each picture book read, write the title on a coin.

Every fifty pages of a chapter book counts for one coin.

Parent/guardian initial each completed coin.
