“Where children come first, and everybody is somebody”

Good morning PS 35 Families,

We hope you have been safe and healthy. Please know that we miss seeing you and our students and we appreciate that you are keeping us connected by sending in pictures of your children engaged in the remote learning tasks. We have a few updates we would like to share with you.

1. If you requested a Remote Learning device, you should have received the device last week or you will be receiving the device this week.
2. Students must use their DOE issued student accounts for Google Classroom. The DOE made some adjustments which are preventing parent personal emails from being used effectively. Classroom teachers are in the process of making the switch from parent emails to DOE student emails. We expect to have all students using their DOE student accounts by April 8th. Please contact your child's teacher if you need support.
3. We are revising our Google Classrooms beginning on Monday, April 6th. Classroom teachers will be posting daily tasks and assignments in English Language Arts and Math only. On Tuesday, the English Language Arts task will focus on a grade level Social Studies concept from the current unit of study and on Thursday, the English Language Arts task will focus on a grade level Science concept from the current unit of study. Cluster teachers will have their own Google Classroom and will be assigning daily content area tasks and assignments customized for specific grades and classes. If you do not have an access code for the Cluster's Google Classroom, please send a Class Dojo message to your child's teacher.
4. We are encouraging our students to engage in daily reading for a pre-determined minimum amount of time to build their reading stamina. The timeframe will be posted on your child's Google Classroom. Please feel free to have them read for longer than the suggested timeframe. The reading can either be with a parent, another person or independently.
5. The Department of Education has decided that Spring Recess which was scheduled from April 9 until April 17th has been cancelled. We will continue providing Remote Learning during that time with a focus on a few fun enrichment tasks.

Thank you for your patience and understanding. Have a wonderful day.

Ms. Peebles-Davis
