COUNSELING

Let's take this time to be grateful for our P.S. 127 Family! It has been a hard road, but we're here for each other and we promise not to let you down =)

This month we are hosting our first virtual fundraiser, The March of Dimes Wonderwalk! Look for details in your child's google classroom or follow the below link to make a difference.

ENL

Ms. Amato, Mrs. Dari & Mrs. Mena

Happy Fall to all our ENL Parents and Families! We are grateful for so much but especially all of the students' hard work. The students are working very diligently on building their reading and writing skills, which will help them be successful in their school work and on the NYSESLAT this spring. We were glad to see many of you at Parent Teacher conferences. If you are unable to attend, we are always available every afternoon 2:00-2:20 .

OT/PT - Hay there! "Beleaf" it or not we have made it to November! By now our students are getting used to their school routines whether they are fully remote or blended. Keep up the work and make sure to take care of yourselves as well. Having to spend so much time inside though gives you the chance to work on many home based skills (folding clothes, cleaning up dishes, sorting silverware or toys, playing card games with the family, etc.) that can also help impact school performance. Don't believe us? Help your child learn these skills and find out! No need to thank us yet - their improved independence is our thanks. - Patrick McTague, Danielle Tanamy, & Anna Fridman

SETSS - A time for being THANKFUL from SE Support! The implementation of SPIRE and other multi-sensory reading activities are about to begin! The benefit of these programs integrates phonological awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary, spelling, comprehension and handwriting – more importantly it turbo-charges student's curiosity of learning! I'm looking forward to discussing these activities and other work that your children have been engaged in with you during the November PTC. At this time, I want to wish all of my P.S. 127 families a wonderful Thanksgiving season! ~Rosemarie Fusco-Amatore ~SETSS/IEP

SPEECH: It was a pleasure seeing so many parents during our parent teacher conferences. Your children have been working hard and showing they can overcome anything to learn. We continue to focus on their goals both remotely and in-person, working to help them with academic needs as well. It's important to keep a routine to help your children maintain consistency throughout the week.
