

Ward Parents,

While our school is closed for the next few days, I will be sharing some resources from the Ward School Library that you and your children can access via Google Classroom. Please don't consider this homework, but more enrichment activities if you are seeking suggestions with extended free time. Unplugging and reading a book is important. But if you are looking for some suggestions, I am glad to assist by providing these resources.

Students can join my Google classroom by visiting <http://classroom.google.com>.

1. Sign in with their @nredlearn.org account.
2. Click on the black plus sign in the top right hand corner, and choose "Join class".
3. Enter our Google Classroom: mmifr7j
4. Click "Join".

Ward students will then be able to see the announcements and posts that I have shared through Google Classroom.

For our younger grades not in google classrooms yet please see the following page.

Students can enjoy story time with authors and get inspired to draw with illustrators through KIDLIT.TV. They can also visit various artists' studios and watch LIVE drawings and tutorials.

Students can explore Pebble GO through Capstone and learn about various animals, biographies and dinosaurs. After researching various topics, students can play activities or answer questions on the topics they learned. They also have access to print worksheets, articles and answer questions on their own.

Students can access Scholastic's Learn from Home website that allows students to continue to read and listen to stories read aloud each day that we are closed. Each day students can click on their grade level and have an amazing learning experience focused on specific topics. Scholastic has so far uploaded 5 days of virtual storytelling and activities. They are in the works of uploading 15 more days.

I miss you all and can't wait to see you back in the library.
