

School-wide Initiatives

MSQI

"The Middle School Quality Initiative (MSQI) supports literacy teaching and learning in middle schools across New York City's five boroughs. MSQI partners with schools to provide resources, on-site coaching, and adult learning opportunities in pursuit of the goal that all students leave middle school reading, writing, speaking, and thinking independently on grade level."
(from the 2016 MSQI Literacy Framework)

Safe Public Spaces

"A comprehensive program designed to promote safety and order in all out-of-classroom spaces." (from Safe Public Spaces Pamphlet)

Creative Connections

Middle School Program that supports students' educational goals by helping them navigate the difficult path of choosing the high school that is right for them.

Ramapo University

The Ramapo Tool Box (Teacher Coaching) - Works with teachers to create supportive environments.

Council For Unity

Emotional Health and Welfare for 8th grade students transitioning to High School. This program includes Mentoring and Peer-Coaching for students.

College Access for All

Seventh grade students are given the opportunity to visit local college campuses to encourage continued success in their pursuit of knowledge.

School Mission Statement

Anning S. Prall Intermediate School 27, The Magnet School of Choice for Applied Learning and Technology recognizes the uniqueness, worth and special needs of our students. In our diverse community teachers, parents and staff collaborate to help students develop self-esteem, confidence and social awareness in themselves while providing an academically rigorous education in a non-threatening, self-motivating environment. We are committed to the pursuit of excellence through study and community service.

Anning S. Prall Intermediate School 27, the Magnet School of Choice for Applied Learning with Technology Integration provides a nurturing environment in a small school setting which will enable students to perform competitively as innovative leaders in today's advanced society. Each academy, CSI, St. John's University and Wagner College, will work with its institution of higher learning to encourage our students to continue learning and growing as they proceed through their academic careers. While the academy affiliations give focus to discrete fields of study and a connection to the academic world, the school remains a cohesive educational community linked by the magnet theme of applied learning and technology integration and NYS core disciplines. Each academy is academically rigorous and prepares each student to meet or exceed standards.

As the Magnet School of Choice for Applied Learning with Technology Integration, our school is using technology within many facets of teaching and learning.

- Two Computer Labs
- Portable Laptop Carts
- iPads in the School Library
- SMART Boards to provide interactive lessons
- Science Lab

At Anning S. Prall Intermediate School 27, parents are a vital component to the success of our children and our school community.

- Our PTA offers families an opportunity to be involved in their children's school.
- Pupil Path, a web-based Student Information System, will help parents stay current with their children's progress by enabling them to check progress and read messages from teachers. Parents are also welcome to communicate with teachers through the Pupil Path message system.

We also offer a range of extra-curricular activities after school and on Saturday as well as holiday and summer programs.

- Award-winning Lego Robotics team
- Yearbook staff
- Performing and visual arts
- Debate Team
- Specialized High School Prep
- Sports and physical activities.
- S.I. Children's Museum- Field Trips and Culinary program
- Vision Education Media- Lego- Robotics and Coding

A well rounded education includes extension classes designed to enrich student academic achievement through the arts.

- Band and Chorus The band and chorus present several concerts throughout the year.
  - ♦ Winter Concert
  - ♦ Spring Concert
- Musical Theater: This year our school is pleased to present The Lion King as our spring production.
- Journalism

Our goal is to prepare our students for the academic and social challenges they will face in the future.

- Community service activities include:
- Food drives
  - Breast Cancer Walks
  - Hoops for Hearts
  - Neighborhood Clean-up Activities

Our scholastic programs offer academically challenging curricula, including:

- Integrated Algebra
