Before Applying for FAFSA: The FSA ID

- Student and at least one parent each obtain Federal Student Aid ID (FSA ID) at FSAID.ed.gov
  - Used to access and electronically sign FAFSA

The screenshot shows the Federal Student Aid website interface. At the top, it says 'Federal Student Aid' and 'PROUD SPONSOR of the AMERICAN MIND'. Below that, it says 'An OFFICE of the U.S. DEPARTMENT of EDUCATION'. The main heading is 'Create a New FSA ID'. The text explains that an FSA ID gives access to online systems and can serve as a legal signature. It also states that the ID should be created using personal information and not on behalf of someone else. A note says 'To create your own personal FSA ID, enter answers for the questions below and select CONTINUE.' An important warning states: 'Important: When you are done click the CANCEL button to clear your data, even if you did not finish creating your FSA ID. Just closing your browser window or going to another website may not be enough to prevent other people using this computer from seeing your information until the session expires.'

Below the text, there are two tabs: 'Create An FSA ID' (selected) and 'Edit My FSA ID'. The 'Create An FSA ID' tab contains four input fields: 'Email', 'Confirm E-mail', 'Username', and 'Password'. Each field has a small circular icon to its right. Below the fields, there are checkboxes for 'Numbers', 'Uppercase Letters', 'Lowercase Letters', 'Special Characters', and '6-30 Characters', along with a 'Show Text' button. On the right side of the form, there are two links: 'Edit My FSA ID' and 'Frequently Asked Questions'. A small asterisk and the word 'Required' are visible in the top right corner of the form area.

Financial Aid and Scholarships

Resources to help you invest in your higher education

Undergraduate Admissions The cost of a college education is a major expense for many students and their families, especially for those who would not be able to attend NYU without financial aid. Financial aid programs help students with financial circumstances, paying for college the next several years. While the process of applying for financial aid can be complex, NYU's financial aid office is here to help you every step of the way.

Financial Aid Calculator

This tool may help provide you with estimated eligibility of need-based financial aid from Cornell. Before entering your income and asset information, please keep in mind:

- The calculator is intended for undergraduate applicants living and working in the U.S.
- All estimated financial aid is based on demonstrated financial need; there are no merit-based awards available from Cornell.
- The resulting information is only as reliable as the data you provide.
- These are estimates only; the Office of Financial Aid and Student Employment is the final authority on your calculated family contribution.
- Divorced, separated or were never married, both households (including stepparents) should run calculations and the combined results are the estimated expected family contribution. Cornell applies its methodology to remarried parents.

You can take a virtual tour, see what's happening on campus, and get a taste of the energy and opportunities that await.

The calculator is a great planning tool. It provides an early indication of how much and what types of financial aid you might qualify for if you were a college freshman attending school full-time in the academic year indicated. Younger students and their parents can use it too, to learn about college costs and receive early financial aid information. It's also useful in creating "what if" scenarios based on expected family income and anticipated expenses. No matter where you are in the planning process, you'll be able to make more informed decisions about when and how much to save.

HOW DOES IT WORK? The calculator reviews the information you provide to estimate the amount of grants, scholarships and other financial aid that is likely to be available to you. Here's the easiest way to think about the number (called "net price") that you'll receive:
