

Images Magazine

Images magazine is a student centered creative writing club in which students write and share with one another their original creative writing pieces. the writing genre is decided by the members, and all pieces are edited by fellow student writers as well as by the club advisor.

Essay contests and the means of getting one's work professionally published are also explored. In conjunction with the Art Department, the club puts out a yearly magazine, Images, in which the publication's theme and featured pieces are determined by members as well as the club advisor.

The club meets on an "as needed" basis.
