Objectives of Evaluation and Selection

The intense proliferation, broad range, and varying suitability of all forms of instructional materials which are available for purchase, demand careful evaluation before they are selected for use in the Mount Pleasant Cottage School Union Free School District. The primary objectives of our school library/media centers is to implement, enrich, and support the instructional program of our schools through selection of a wide range of materials, on all levels of difficulty, with diversity of appeal and presenting differing points of view. Likewise, the selection of any instructional materials which will be used in the Mount Pleasant Cottage School Union Free School District should be based upon the same criteria and evaluation procedures, as outlined in the selection policy and regulation.

SUBJECT: INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS SELECTION CRITERIA (Cont'd.)

Instructional materials as used in this regulation include all print and non-print materials used both in the classroom and library/media center to facilitate the learning process. This includes textbooks, workbooks, literature books, story books, charts, films, film loops, filmstrips, games, globes, kits, maps, model, microforms, pamphlets, pictures, recordings, slides, specimens, transparencies, videotapes, and the like. (No attempt is made to present specific criteria for the broad media of communications such as magazines and newspapers. However, evaluative sources such as the American Library Association's Periodicals for School Libraries are consulted before magazine or newspaper subscriptions are placed.)

We reaffirm and endorse the tenets of the School Library Bill of Rights of the American Association of School Libraries, which states that it is the responsibility of the library media center, and of all teachers to their students to:

1) Provide materials that will enrich and support the curriculum, taking into consideration the varied interests, abilities and maturity levels of the students served.

2) Provide materials that will stimulate growth in factual knowledge, literary appreciation, aesthetic values, and ethical standards.

3) Provide materials on opposing sides of controversial issues so that young citizens may develop under guidance the practice of critical thinking and analysis of all media.

4) Provide materials representative of the many religious and cultural groups and their contributions to our American heritage.

5) Place principle above personal opinion and reason above prejudice in the selection of materials of the highest quality in order to assume a comprehensive collection appropriate for the users of the Library Media Center.

Responsibility for Selection of Materials

The Board of Education is legally responsible for all matters relating to the operation of the Mount Pleasant Cottage School Union Free School District. While the legal responsibility for the purchase of all instructional materials is vested in the Board of Education, the responsibility for the selection of instructional materials is delegated through the Superintendent to the professionally trained personnel employed by the District.

Each School District shall employ a certified school Library Media Specialist, unless equivalent service is provided by an alternative arrangement approved by the Commissioner, in accordance with the following standards:

The Curriculum Coordinators/Department Heads and teachers have been charged with the responsibility of identifying, ordering and organizing those materials (both print and non-print) which, in their professional opinion, will best facilitate the accomplishment of the goals and objectives of the Mount Pleasant Cottage School Union Free School District's curriculum. The District shall ensure that special education teachers will be included in the review of possible new material.

In carrying out their responsibilities, the school Library Media Specialist and instructional staff involve students, supervisors, administrators, the Board of Education and the community in the evaluation and selection process.

Criteria for Evaluation and Selection of Instructional Materials

The needs of the individual school, based upon knowledge of the curriculum and of the existing collection, as well as the requests of teachers, students and administrators are given primary consideration.

The needs of the individual student, especially as regards diversity of learning styles, and varying levels of ability, are also taken into consideration, and materials are selected to meet the needs of a diverse student population.

Each School District has the option of participating in the National Instructional Materials Access Center (NIMAC). Whether a district does or does not participate in NIMAC, the district will be responsible to ensure that each student who requires instructional materials in an alternate format will receive it in a timely manner and in a format that meets NIMAS standards [8 NYCRR Section 200.2(b)(10)]. The NYS Education Department (NYSED) recommends that school districts choose to participate in NIMAC, because this national effort to centralize the distribution of instructional materials in alternate formats will help guarantee timely provision of such materials to students.

For school districts, Boards of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES), State-operated schools, State-supported schools and approved private schools that choose to participate in NIMAC, contracts with publishers executed on and after December 3, 2006 for textbooks and other printed core materials must include a provision that requires the publisher to produce NIMAS files and send them to the NIMAC (this will not add any cost to the contract).

For more information regarding NIMAC including model contract language, Steps for Coordinating with NIMAC and an IDEA Part B Assurances Application please see http://aim.cast.org/learn/policy/federal/faq.

Each title or item is judged as a whole work, on its individual merits and curricular needs. Judgments should be based upon the entire work, and not upon vulnerable minor episodes and parts of work. An item may be purchased if it is the most appropriate title to fit a given need, even if its rating is not high in all categories.

Both print and non-print materials are evaluated on the basis of:

1) Educational significance and importance of the subject matter.

2) Need and value to the collection for which the material is being evaluated.

7) Validity, factual accuracy, objectivity, and timeliness or permanence of the text or audio-visual presentation.
8) Organization and presentation of contents.
9) Specific needs and objectives of the curriculum.
10) Appropriateness to a particular reading level.
11) Point of view, including unbiased treatment of minorities, ideologies, sex roles, etc.
12) High degree of readability and/or comprehensibility.
13) Potential user appeal.
14) Artistic quality and/or literary style.
15) Format and quality of materials.

Procedures for Evaluation and Selection

Library Media Centers

In selecting materials for purchase, the Library Media Specialist evaluates the existing collection and consults:

1) Reputable, unbiased, professionally prepared selection aids.
SUBJECT: INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS SELECTION CRITERIA (Cont'd.)

2) Specialists from all departments and/or all grade levels. However, the Library Media Specialist is not necessarily required to have read, listened to, or previewed every item selected.

In specific areas, these procedures are followed:

1) Free and inexpensive materials, as well as gift materials are judged by basic selection standards, and are accepted or rejected on the basis of these standards.

2) Multiple items of outstanding and much in demand media are purchased as needed.

3) Out of date or no longer useful materials are withdrawn from the collection and disposed of.

4) Sets of materials, and materials acquired by subscription are examined carefully, and are purchased only to fill a definite need.

5) Each item in a set or series is judged on its individual merits.

Instructional Materials

In requesting instructional materials for classroom use, the following procedure will be followed:

1) The teacher will complete the appropriate request and evaluation form for each recommendation.

2) Requests are routed from the teacher through appropriate channels.

3) The request and evaluation form along with a copy of the instructional material will be submitted to the Board of Education.

4) The Board of Education will act upon the request as soon as possible following the date of the teacher request.

5) Affected personnel will be informed of the Board of Education action as soon as possible following the Board of Education meeting.

6) The instructional material will be ordered through the channel that will supply the material in the shortest time and at least expense. Preference will be given to those vendors who agree to provide instructional materials in alternative formats.

Student Use of Calculators

The District can require students to provide their own "supplies" (defined as something which is consumed in use, loses its appearance and shape in use, expendable, and inexpensive). Examples include pencils, pens, paper, etc. Calculators do not fall into this category and must be considered like classroom teaching materials for which the District is authorized to levy a tax. In addition, the District may purchase, but must still provide, calculators even under a contingent budget.

As the New York State Education Department requires the use of calculators for intermediate and high school level mathematics and science assessments and are considered a necessary part of the educational program, the District must provide them. Under no circumstances should students be charged for a calculator or be otherwise required to purchase one in order to participate in the District's educational program.
