

ALJ Media Center- Online Research Databases

The ALJ IMC provides access to many quality online databases to aid students in their research. To access any of these databases from a school computer, no username or password is required. To access any of these databases from home you will be prompted to enter a username and password. You should always access these databases from the ALJ Media Center page located under the resources section of the ALJ website--(www.alj.clarkschools.org/).
