

Kumpf's Teacher for the Day Student Auction

Dear Students & Parents,

Carl H. Kumpf will be hosting a “Teacher for the Day” Auction on Thursday, May 24. This is the perfect opportunity for students to experience ‘a day in the life of their teacher.’ As the teacher, the student will dress and act professionally at all times. He/she will be expected to teach the lessons for the day. All proceeds from the auction will be donated to the Ronald McDonald House as part of our “Color Run for Charity” at the end of the year.

The auction will be a “silent auction” where students can bid on the teachers who are participating using the sheet below. All bids must be received by Thursday, May 17. During each of the lunch periods on Friday, May 18, the Teacher for the Day winners will be announced. The maximum bid for the auction is $50. The winning bidder is responsible for contacting the assigned teacher by Monday, May 21st to discuss lesson plans. Up to two students can be selected for any one individual teacher. If there are more than two students with the high bid for a teacher, the students will be randomly selected.

If your child has your permission to participate in Teacher for the Day Auction, please return the bottom portion to their Homeroom Teacher by May 18th with his or her bid. Please indicate the maximum amount you will allow your child to bid during the auction to avoid any overbidding ($50 is the maximum allowed per bid).

Cash and/or checks will be accepted on Monday, May 21st
