Big Ideas / Enduring Understandings

1. That reading multiple perspectives on a topic are essential to developing one's own claim.
2. That some evidence is more relevant and convincing.
3. That the structure of argument writing (claims, counterclaims and specific evidence) are needed to support a convincing argument.

Essential Questions

Reading Nonfiction

1. How can I read across a set of complex texts on a topic and note and analyze multiple perspectives and their supporting reasons?
2. How can I determine what evidence is more relevant and therefore makes my claim more convincing?
3. How are claims, counter-claims, and specific evidence utilized to support a strong argument?

Writing Arguments

1. How can I study and weigh the conflicting perspectives on an issue in order to develop an informed stance?
2. How can I write a well-structured argument essay that convinces readers of my stance?
3. How can I cite the research sources I use, and state and refute the counter-arguments?

Common Core Standards and Indicators

NYS: CCLS:English Language Arts 6-12

NYS: Grades 9-10

Reading: Informational Text

Key Ideas and Details

1. Read closely to determine what the text says explicitly and to make logical inferences from it; cite specific textual evidence when writing or speaking to support conclusions drawn from the text.

1. Cite strong and thorough textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text.

5. Analyze the structure of texts, including how specific sentences, paragraphs, and larger portions of the text (e.g., a section, chapter, scene, or stanza) relate to each other and the whole.

5. Analyze in detail how an author's ideas or claims are developed and refined by particular sentences, paragraphs, or larger portions of a text (e.g., a section or chapter).

6. Assess how point of view or purpose shapes the content and style of a text.

6. Determine an author's point of view or purpose in a text and analyze how an author uses rhetoric to advance that point of view or purpose.

8. Delineate and evaluate the argument and specific claims in a text, including the validity of the reasoning as well as the relevance and sufficiency of the evidence.
(Not applicable to literature)

8. Delineate and evaluate the argument and specific claims in a text, assessing whether the reasoning is valid and the evidence is relevant and sufficient; identify false statements and fallacious reasoning.

Writing

Text Types and Purposes

1. Write arguments to support claims in an analysis of substantive topics or texts, using valid reasoning and relevant and sufficient evidence.

Assessments

Depth of Knowledge (DOK) Levels

M.E.A.L paragraphs (Once a week)

Formative: DOK 3 Strategic Thinking: Written: Informative

Students will work to establish a position on the following: What is the appropriate balance between a US citizen's right to privacy and the government's responsibility to protect its citizens? They will periodically be assessed on their ability to establish claims and demonstrate analysis in support of that claim.

These will be given once a week. Students will receive them, with actionable feedback in a timely manner and with an opportunity to revise.

Argument

Summative: DOK 3 Strategic Thinking: Written: Essay

Read several articles regarding the topic and construct an argument. Establish a claim on the topic and cite evidence to support your position. Follow the structure for an argument essay discussed in class. The rubric used will be the NYC MOSL rubric to allow students to become familiar with the terms and traits being assessed.
