JJMS Goal: To be a school that continually fosters learning, caring and leading

Subject: Grade 6 English Language Arts

Teachers' Names: Marcia Daley-Savo, Mary Dillon, Mark Grossman, Kathy O'Neil, Christine Watroba, Jeanne Kellachan, Elissa Rekow, Melissa Smythe

Curriculum: To prepare students for Common-Core expectations, all students are expected to read, analyze, and cite text to support in both discussion and writing, in a variety of genres, both fiction and non-fiction, throughout the year.

Students are taught a variety of comprehension strategies to maximize their interaction with all types of text. Emphasis is also placed on vocabulary development throughout the year in order to increase students' ability to access more challenging texts and communicate more effectively in writing.

Students are also expected to draft, revise, edit and publish writing pieces in school, using the many skills and strategies instructed in “writing workshop.” Students will learn and practice these revision strategies to improve and enhance their organization and presentation of ideas. Writing assignments will often involve making a claim/s about what students have read/researched and supporting these claims with clear and substantial text-based evidence and cogent reasoning.

Students are accountable for their progress as independent readers and will be required to show an understanding of the books they read in various ways. In an effort to foster this, students are asked to read independently for a minimum of twenty minutes each night as part of their regular homework. We hope reading will bring students pleasure as well as knowledge.
Grading and Homework: Students will be graded on a wide variety of formal and informal assessments in addition to homework and classwork.

70% of the trimester grade will be based on major assessments and assignments (process writing pieces, reading comprehension tests, long-term projects). All major assignments have equal value.

30% of the trimester grade will be based on minor assessments and assignments (vocabulary quizzes, formative assessments, classwork completion, reading comprehension quizzes). All minor assignments have equal value.

Each trimester will account for one-third of the final average when determining the end-of-year grade.

Subject: Grade 6 Social Studies

Teachers’ Names: Marcia Daley-Savo, Mary Dillon, Mark Grossman, Kathy O’Neil, Jesse Weiss

Curriculum: During each unit of study, students will analyze a variety of primary and secondary source materials and determine how authors organize and present information. They will determine the central ideas of these materials, i.e., maps, charts, photographs, artifacts, text, etc. and make well-supported claims about what they have learned, using specific evidence to support their analyses. Students will also be engaged in inquiry-based learning experiences related to the areas of study throughout the year. Development of content-writing skills will, of course, be paramount to the work we are doing throughout the year.

Topics

- Geography and Map Skills
- Prehistory
- Ancient Civilizations: Mesopotamia, Egypt, India, China, Greece, Rome
- Medieval Europe
- Current Events
- Research Skills: Library skills, Note-taking, Research related to the cultures of the areas of study
Grading and Homework: Students will be graded on a wide variety of formal and informal assessments in addition to homework and classwork.

70% of the trimester grade will be based on major assessments and assignments (unit tests, research projects, essays). All major assignments have equal value.

30% of the trimester grade will be based on minor assessments and assignments (section quizzes, classwork, formative assessments). All minor assignments have equal value.

Each trimester will account for one-third of the final average when determining the end-of-year grade.

Subject: Special Class ELA 6

Teacher: Elissa Rekow

Curriculum: Read 180; System 44. A multi-sensory reading program for older elementary-aged students who struggle in reading. Students rotate through an instructional model comprised of whole-group, small-group and individual learning as they work on a variety of comprehension and decoding skills and strategies. The individual portion of the model involves students using leveled instructional software to work on comprehension, vocabulary, spelling, word recognition, decoding, writing, and reading aloud. Students are supported in independent reading of leveled text through the use of graphic organizers that focus on comprehension and writing activities. 60 minutes per day.

Grading and Homework: Tests/ quizzes: 50% (unit tests count twice), Classwork: 30%, Homework: 20%

Final Grade Calculation: Tri 1: 33.3%; Tri 2: 33.3%; Tri 3: 33.3%

Homework is posted daily on echalk on the student's Team page. No homework is given on Fridays, though students are expected to read at least 20 minutes per day. Students are permitted to make up missed homework assignments. I will contact you after 2 missed assignments within a 6-week period. At a third missed assignment, the student will be asked to come during recess to make up any missing assignment.

Resources: Students can complete instructional software sessions at home by going to: https://h100000958.education.scholastic.com/slms/studentaccess (address can be found on Team page under Resources) iReady.com can also be used for at home for individualized reading instruction.

Subject: Resource Room 6
Teacher: Elissa Rekow

ROLE OF THE SPECIAL EDUCATION TEACHER

- Provide a quiet, structured environment where students can learn and study
- Teach and/or review the skills and strategies needed to be successful in academic classes
- Check assignment pads for accuracy and completeness and/or remind students to use e-Chalk
- Meet with the Guidance Counselor, teachers, and related service providers, as needed
- Maintain, follow and update the IEP
- Assist students to improve their student skills: organization, reading directions, working carefully, time management, advocating for themselves, utilizing study strategies

ROLE OF THE STUDENT

- Write all assignments in assignment pad and check e-Chalk daily
- Practice and/or improve student skills including utilizing extra help sessions
- Work productively during Resource class
- Participate actively within the classroom
- Do work outside of school hours - looking over notes, reading IRB, studying, reviewing daily
- Meet all academic long and short-term deadlines
- Come to class on time, put forth effort, and do his/her best

ROLE OF THE PARENT

- Meet with the child’s team at least once this year
- Encourage homework - reading a novel, looking over notes, utilize a study strategy
- Ask to see test and quiz results, as well as major projects
- Encourage outside reading
- Assist your child to prepare for a test
- Provide a quiet and structured place to work
- Check assignment pad/e-chalk daily to see what work needs to be done
- Call the school to collect work if your child is absent two or more days

JJMS Goal: To be a school that continually fosters learning, caring and leading

Subject: ENL (English as a New Language)

Teacher Name: Jaimie Dini

Curriculum:
The ENL program is set up so that students learning English receive support to be successful in school. Students will work on their listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills in English during their ENL class with me. Additionally, I will attend students ELA (English Language Arts) classes to aid students and ensure the required work is at an appropriate level.

Grading and Homework:
Students will not be graded for this class. They will receive comments on their report card explaining their growth during the trimester and suggestions on what to focus on at home.

Students should be reading every night, in their native language or in English. Homework will be assigned for practice, which will include both worksheets and computer work. If your child does not have access to a computer, please let me know.

Resources:
Students should practice their English skills every night at home through certain websites. These include Raz-kids.com and Duolingo.com.

Students should practice basic Math skills (multiplying, dividing, adding, subtracting) through IXL.com.

Google translate is especially helpful for translation. It can translate typed text, speech, or images.

Students also have access to ipads, while in class, with preloaded apps to practice reading, writing, speaking, listening, phonics, vocabulary and much more!

Extra Help:
I am here every Tuesday after school for help. They can take the 3:00 bus home, so please encourage your child to stay!

2018-19 Open House

Subject: 6th Grade French – level 1 – part 1
Teacher: Susan Reiss
JJMS Goal: To be a school that continually fosters learning, caring and leading

Curriculum:

A. Thematic based curriculum (ordering food in a café, family, socializing, etc.) with the emphasis on communication, both oral and written. Vocabulary, grammar and cultural aspects depend on the function being taught. The four communicative functions are: socializing, exchanging information, expressing feelings, and asking questions.

B. Aural-oral approach: hear it, say it, use it, experience it, act it out...all prior to the reading, writing and spelling component. This speaking based curriculum has an increased reading focus because of the basic role that reading plays in the language acquisition continuum.

C. Units 1-4, level 1 of textbook (see table of contents in text)

D. Portfolio: to be compiled throughout the year; on view on “Arts Night”

Grading and Homework:

A. Section and folder in binder for notes and classwork/homework

B. Formative work (homework @ 20% and class participation @ 20%) = 40%

C. Summative work (assessments/projects @ 60%) = 60%

Resources:

A. Textbook: Discovering French Today – level 1

B. Online textbook: Discovering French Today – level 1 (my.hrw.com)

C. Workbook: Discovering French Today – level 1

D. Final grade is determined as follows: 33.3% Tri 1; 33.3% Tri 2; 33.3% Tri 3

Home and Careers - The mission of the New York State Home & Career Skills curriculum is to prepare students for family and work life by providing opportunities to develop the knowledge, skills, attitudes and behaviors to be competent, confident and caring in managing their personal, family and career lives. Basic to our mission is the understanding that as technology advances and societies change, the basic needs of food, clothing, shelter and the desire for nurturing human relationships and satisfying work remain. The hands-on, real life nature of Home & Career Skills helps students develop skills in communication, leadership and management. This course affords students multiple opportunities to read, write and compute in the context of real world situations that are relevant to early adolescents. Content topics of study in 6th grade include Culinary Arts, Developing Healthy Habits and Character Education.

Subject:  HEALTH

Teachers' Names:  Elizabeth (Liz) Ferrara

Curriculum:  Middle School Health is currently divided within a student’s 6th, 7th and 8th grade years. Within these sessions, students will engage in various activities and assignments that focus on both “Skills and Functional Knowledge” outlined in the NYS Health Guidance Document. Below are skill and content examples:

* SKILLS (Self-management, Relationship management, Stress management, Communication, Planning and goal-setting, Decision-making, Advocacy)

Grading and Homework:  Grades will be based on point system in which a student’s grade will be their points earned divided into total possible points that is then converted into a letter grade. Points are earned through class participation and assignments created during class. There will be extra credit opportunities for all interested students. Grades will be received at the end of the trimester they have health class.

Resources:  During the time of health class, students should check E-chalk for any announcements and/or missed assignments. They can disregard information when they are in their Unified Arts (UA) class. With the availability of technology within our classroom, students will be developing a variety of multi-media and/or advocacy assignments. Specific details about these assignments will be provided as we move throughout the year together.
