Dear Parents/Guardians,

For the past few years, Carlstadt Public School has administered the InView exam to students in grades 2, 4 and 6. The InView exam is a nationally norm referenced test that assesses cognitive abilities in the following areas: Verbal Reasoning (words and context), Non-Verbal Reasoning (sequences and analogies), and Quantitative Reasoning.

This year, the InView exam will be administered to students in early January. Test scores from the InView measure an individual's ability to learn new tasks and to solve problems independently. It is not an academic achievement test used to determine progress in the approved curriculum. Thus, there is no preparation required or recommended for the test.

Data from the InView can disclose discrepancies between a student's predicted level of academic ability and his or her actual achievement. This information, coupled with classroom performance, can help in planning instructional programs that support and/or enhance student achievement, such as Response to Intervention (RTI), Gifted and Talented (G&T), and other related programs and services. Should you have any questions regarding the InView, please do not hesitate to contact your child's teacher. We look forward to working with you to ensure the academic success of your child.
