Course Description:

This course is designed to immerse the student into the depths of academic rigor and complexity through the forms of literature (poetry, short stories, dramas, and novellas/novels), international music and Art History. Throughout the course of the semester, students are required to complete various projects/papers based on the analytical pillars of reading, writing, listening/speaking, and language. Consistently, students are required to complete the assigned readings and participate in daily re-reading, writing, and analytical interpretations of the covered material. Additionally, students are required to study weekly vocabulary based homework assignments (1 page) to be due each Friday, along with daily reading responses to ensure student comprehension/reaction and critical interpretation of the material covered. Throughout the year, there will also be several opportunities for students to attend Poetry Readings at Fordham University. Lastly, at the end of each unit, students are required to complete a final paper/project influenced by the corresponding book of the time. Pending completion of the academic year, students will be college/career ready and prepared for the Common Core English Regents.

Course Objectives:

By the end of the year, students will:

1. Read literary and informational text to determine key ideas, details, and to interpret complexity:

CCSS.ELA-Literacy.RL.11-12.1

Cite strong and thorough textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text, including determining where the text leaves matters uncertain.

CCSS.ELA-Literacy.RL.11-12.2

Determine two or more themes or central ideas of a text and analyze their development over the course of the text, including how they interact and build on one another to produce a complex account; provide an objective summary of the text.

2. Write different text types and understand purposes for writing:

CCSS.ELA-Literacy.W.11-12.1

Write arguments to support claims in an analysis of substantive topics or texts, using valid reasoning and relevant and sufficient evidence

CCSS.ELA-Literacy.W.11-12.3

Write narratives to develop real or imagined experiences or events using effective technique, well-chosen details, and well-structured event sequences.

3. Understand the Process: Production and Distribution of Writing:

CCSS.ELA-Literacy.W.11-12.4

Produce clear and coherent writing in which the development, organization, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience. (Grade-specific expectations for writing types are defined in standards 1-3 above.)

CCSS.ELA-Literacy.W.11-12.5

Develop and strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach, focusing on addressing what is most significant for a specific purpose and audience. (Editing for conventions should demonstrate command of Language standards 1-3 up to and including grades 11-12 here.)

4. Fruitful Speech: Comprehension and Collaboration:

CCSS.ELA-Literacy.SL.11-12.1

Initiate and participate effectively in a range of collaborative discussions (one-on-one, in groups, and teacher-led) with diverse partners on grades 11-12 topics, texts, and issues, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly and persuasively.

CCSS.ELA-Literacy.SL.11-12.1.a

Come to discussions prepared, having read and researched material under study; explicitly draw on that preparation by referring to evidence from texts and other research on the topic or issue to stimulate a thoughtful, well-reasoned exchange of ideas.

5. Presentation of Knowledge and Ideas:

CCSS.ELA-Literacy.SL.11-12.4

Present information, findings, and supporting evidence, conveying a clear and distinct perspective, such that listeners can follow the line of reasoning, alternative or opposing perspectives are addressed, and the organization, development, substance, and style are appropriate to purpose, audience, and a range of formal and informal tasks.

6. Vocabulary Acquisition and Use:

CCSS.ELA-Literacy.L.11-12.4

Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown and multiple-meaning words and phrases based on grades 11-12 reading and content, choosing flexibly from a range of strategies.

CCSS.ELA-Literacy.L.11-12.5

Demonstrate understanding of figurative language, word relationships, and nuances in word meanings

Plagiarism: (credited to UCONN website)

- The consequences for plagiarism can include failure of the assignment and/or failure of the course.
- Plagiarism—Plagiarism is using someone else's words or ideas without proper acknowledgement. It can range from improper citations to submitting someone's entire essay as your own. Intentional plagiarism is not tolerated and will result in the failure of this course. We will have a more in-depth discussion of plagiarism in class, and if you are ever in doubt over the proper citation, ask me.
- One of the aims in this course is for you to learn how to conduct yourself as part of a community of scholars, recognizing that academic study is both an intellectual and ethical enterprise.
- Plagiarism is a big deal.
