

Week of March 2nd, 2020

Dear Daisy Families,

We are excited to celebrate the birthday of beloved author Dr. Seuss who has written many fun books that are filled with rhyme, adorable characters and hilarious adventures. All next week our school will honor his work and celebrate the importance of reading everyday.

The list of events for the week will be:

Monday March 2nd:

Guest Readers will be visiting classrooms and gathering in the “PIT” area to read Dr. Seuss books to our students. Please have your child wear RED and WHITE to support this event, if you so choose.

Tuesday March 3rd:

In honor of our kindness theme, students will visit “buddy classrooms” for a read aloud of HORTON HEARS A WHO. If possible, please have your child wear a shirt with a kind message to support this event.

Wednesday March 4th:

WACKY WEDNESDAY theme, students and staff are encouraged to get wacky like Dr. Seuss and wear a crazy hat or crazy hair. Green Eggs and Ham and other read alouds will be shown during the lunch waves for all students to enjoy.

Thursday March 5th:

Oh the Places You’ll Go at Daisy. Teachers will swap classrooms to visit another classroom to read a Dr. Seuss book. Please have your child wear a favorite destination shirt (a shirt that shows a favorite place to visit).

Friday March 6th:

School wide celebration with DEAR....students will line the hallways of Daisy school to Drop Everything and Read from 9:00-9:15am. Please feel free to dress as your favorite Dr. Seuss character or wear a shirt with a kind message to support this event.

We are looking forward to a fun week of celebrating reading!
